Introduction

The Government of Tanzania adopted the Government Financial Statistics Manual 2014 (GFSM2014) and updated its chart of accounts to comply with the requirement of the international standards. In July, 2016 the Ministry of Finance and Planning through the Accountant General's Department formed a task force to finalize the preparation of the GFS code in accordance to the manual 2014. The Updated information was the adopted by the Tanzania GFSTWG which was formed by the PST to conform to the requirements of the EAC. In December, 2016 the GFSTWG updated the final version of the GFS and COA and incorporated the recommendations issued by IMF GFS Technical Assistance team.

The primary purpose of the Government Finance Statistics (GFS) code is to provide a comprehensive conceptual and reporting framework suitable for analyzing and evaluating fiscal policy, especially the performance of the general government sector and the broader public sector of any economy. In short, the general government sector consists of resident institutional units that fulfill the functions of government as their primary activity.

This sector includes the general government units and all nonmarket, nonprofit institutional units (NPIs) that are controlled by government units. The function of government units, broadly described, is to implement public policy through the provision of primarily nonmarket goods and services and the redistribution of income and wealth, with both activities supported mainly by compulsory levies on other sectors. The public sector consists of all resident institutional units controlled directly, or indirectly, by resident government units that is, all units of the general government sector and resident public corporations.

Chart of Accounts (COA) provides the normative framework for recording and displaying how budget resources were actually used. Therefore, COA is elemental to the process of administering, recording, and reporting on the government's financial transactions and simplifies the process of preparation of Consolidation Accounts of the Government.

Chapter 1: Classification of Revenue

11: Taxes

Taxes are compulsory, unrequited amounts receivable by government units from institutional units. Taxes are classified mainly according to the base on which the tax is levied and can be receivable in cash or in kind. By its nature, only a government unit can receive revenue in form of taxes.

111: Taxes on Income, Profits, and Capital Gains

This item code used to record transactions related to receivable taxes assessed on the actual or presumed incomes of institutional units. It includes taxes assessed on holdings of property, land, or real estate when these holdings are used as a basis for estimating the income of their owners. These taxes often referred to as income taxes, includes taxes on individual or household income, taxes on the income of corporations, taxes on capital gains and taxes on winnings from lotteries or gambling.

1111: Payable by Individuals

This item code used to record transactions related to personal income taxes, including those deducted by employers (pay-as-you-earn taxes) and surtaxes. Such taxes are usually levied on the total declared or presumed income from all sources of the person concerned: compensation of employees (e.g., wages, salaries, tips, fees, commissions, and fringe benefits), property income (e.g., interest, dividends, rent, royalty incomes), and pensions (taxable portions of social security, pension, annuity, life insurance, and other retirement benefit distributions), etc.

1112: Payable by Corporations and other enterprises

This item code used to record transactions related to corporate and other enterprises income taxes, corporate profits taxes, corporate surtaxes, etc. This item includes taxes on the income of units such as partnerships, sole proprietorships, estates and some trusts that are recognized as corporations. This covers income from all sources and not simply profits generated by production. Also included are income taxes on trusts where the beneficiaries are corporations such as With Holding tax on Bank Interest, Capital Gain Tax, Shipping, etc.

1113: Other taxes on income, profits, and capital gains

This item code shall be credited with taxes on capital gains (including capital gains distributions of investment funds) of persons or corporations that become payable during the current reporting period, irrespective of the periods over which the gains have accrued. They are usually payable on nominal, rather than real, capital gains and on realized, rather than unrealized, capital gains.

As with employer contributions to social security schemes, these contributions are not eliminated by consolidation when the paying and receiving governments are in the same sector or subsector.

1223: Imputed Contributions

This item will be used to record social security contributions that arise when government employers provide non pension benefits directly to their employees, former employees, or dependents out of their own resources without involving an insurance enterprise and without creating a special fund or segregated reserve for the purpose.

13: Grants

This item will be used to record grants transfers receivable by government units, from other resident or nonresident government units or international organizations, which do not meet the definition of a tax, subsidy, or social contribution. Grants may be in the forms of cash or in kind.

131: From Foreign Government

This item will be used to record grants transfers receivable by government units, from foreign government made for the purpose of current and capital expenditure, which may be in the forms of cash or in kind.

1311: Current Grants from Foreign Government

This item will be used to record grants from foreign governments made for the purpose of current expenditure and are not linked to or conditional on the acquisition of an asset by the recipient government.

1312: Capital Grants from Foreign Government

This item will be used to record grants from foreign governments made for acquisition of assets by the government and may consist of a transfer of cash that the recipient is expected or required to use for the acquisition of an asset or assets.

132: From International Organization

This item will be used to record grants transfers receivable by government units, from international organization for the purpose of current and capital expenditure, which may be in the forms of cash or in kind.

1321: Current Grants from International Organization

This item will be used to record grants from international organization made for the purpose of current expenditure and are not linked to or conditional on the acquisition of an asset by the recipient government.

1322: Capital Grants from International Organization

This item will be used to record grants from International organization made for acquisition of assets by the government and may consist of a transfer of cash that the recipient is expected or required to use for the acquisition of an asset or assets. In some cases grants may be in the form of goods or services.

133: From other General Government Units

This item will be used to record grants received from institution at other levels of the government for the purpose of current and capital expenditure, which include grants from central government to local government or to extra budgetary units.

1331: Current Grants from other General Government Units

This item will be used to record grants from other general government made for the purpose of current expenditure and are not linked to or conditional on the acquisition of an asset by the recipient government.
